

“I try to enter every new situation with an open heart and an open mind, this amazing internship is no exception.”

Micah Nelson

Micah Nelson is from Toronto, Ontario and holds an honours degree in International Development Studies from McGill University and a post-graduate certificate in International Project Management from Humber College.

Micah looks forward to gaining practical experience in her placement in addition to applying skills learned in class.

She has previous experience working with at risk youth in Toronto and Chile which will be a great asset in her placement.

Micah will be working with the Youth Health Organization in Botswana, which provides educational programming for youth on HIV/AIDS. She will be helping with life skills training sessions, marketing, monitoring and evaluation. After years of experience in the arts and an academic background in development, this internship combines both. Micah looks forward to the opportunity of working with youth through the arts in addition to assisting in an arts festival that promotes HIV/AIDS education and awareness.
