

“I consider myself to be incredibly blessed to have received this opportunity and I don’t intend to waste a moment of it. I know that I will be challenged, some days will be harder than others; but this is what I want and the experience I expect. I can’t wait to meet the people of Botswana and learn from them. I just can’t wait.”

Amy Dhillon

Amy is from Winnipeg, Manitoba. She graduated with a Bachelor of Sciences (Hons) degree in Biology in 2008 and a Bachelor of Arts degree in Politics in 2009 from the University of Winnipeg.

Amy is headed to Gaborone, Botswana to work with the Botswana Council of Churches monitoring and evaluating the Adolescent Sexual and Reproductive Health and assisting with the Male Peer HIV/AIDS Awareness projects. Amy is most excited about the opportunity to meet new people and learn new cultures while working on projects that are important in raising awareness around HIV/AIDS in Botswana.
